ILLEGIB

OFFICE OF SECURITY DIRECTIVE NO. 75-13

FOR : All Office of Security Employees

SUBJECT: Questionable Activities

1. The events of the past two years have shown that every Agency employee is affected when the Agency is alleged to have pursued an activity outside of its legislative authority. During this period, the Director himself on a number of occasions has specifically called upon each employee to bring to his attention any possibly illegal or questionable activities pursued by the Agency in the past.

2. This Office continues to expect each employee to call attention to any questionable activity, past or present. The future of the Agency could be dependent upon vigilance in this matter.

3. As Director of Security I cannot overemphasize that I expect every employee of the Office of Security to accept this responsibility as being key to the lifeblood of the Office and the Agency. No one has the personal or professional right to leave a questionable activity unreported.

4. In order to ensure that all Office of Security employees are aware of their responsibility in this regard, I ask Office of Security supervisors at every level to be attuned to his subordinates' possible desires to bring questionable activities to light. Such matters will be brought to my attention immediately through the chain of command. Further, to ensure that there is no chance for error, I expect every employee to be unequivocally free to bring such matters to my personal attention if he believes that the chain of command has not attended to his report or if he is reluctant to discuss it with his supervisor.
